

AMUSEMENTS

LILLIE SUTHERLAND

The vivacious soubrette with the Raymond Teal Musical Comedy Co., which opens a short season at the Liberty Theater on Monday evening. Miss Sutherland is no stranger to Honolulu. She was the leading soubrette with the Kolb & Dill Co., when they were in this city some years ago. The team of Sutherland and Sutherland of which she was a member was well known on the coast as one of the best dancing turns on the Orpheum circuit.

A man should never settle down until after he has settled up.
A man may do just as he pleases, but he doesn't enjoy it unless he has a wife to object.

A girl who paints may be better than she is painted.
If you are polite to some men they nearly always think you are merely paying the way for a "touch."

BOX CANNOT HOLD RAYMOND

The Great Raymond did it.

He shot out of a nailed packing-box like a cannonball last night at the Liberty theater, making good his boast that he could do it, and delighting those of a big audience who stayed until eleven o'clock to see whether or not the handsome magician could pull off the most mysterious and hardest stunt he has tried.

It took Raymond just seven minutes from the time the box was nailed down and the box shoved under the cloth-covered cabinet, to free himself and burst forth smiling and triumphant. The box was intact, the rope uncut and the seal on the knot unbroken. How he did it nobody exactly knew, but there were fifty explanations. Whether he managed to pry a board loose is something that nobody but Raymond himself and his nimble-witted assistants know. They searched him before he went into the box, and if he had a chisel or a hammer to help him, it was well hidden. The assistants did a lot of hammering that was useless and the orchestra got the tip to play hard and fast, and under cover of the noise Raymond was getting out.

Jacobson Bros., who challenged the magician to the feat, put enough nails in the box to build a three-story house and the audience grew tired of the long intermission and the long preparations, but there's no doubt of the genuineness of the box or the way it was nailed up. Raymond, say those who laugh at the idea of trapdoors and black-art alike, must have used his strength and skill to pry a board up, and then, after getting out, replaced the board and nailed it down which would not be hard. But the fact that he did it in seven minutes and left the box apparently intact made the trick a corking good one.

This afternoon he is giving a special matinee, and tonight he closes his local engagement with a change of program, putting on, he announces, a full evening of the best in his repertoire.

FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULTING WIFE

Henry Van Gelsen, chief clerk of the County Clerk's office, was fined $50 and costs this morning by Judge Monarrat, when found guilty on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife on the afternoon of July 9.

According to the testimony of Mrs. Van Gelsen her husband entered her house, on the day the offense occurred and took away her eleven months old baby by force. She testified that when she followed him down the road, seeking for the return of baby, he struck her, knocking her down three times.

The third time that she fell she said she was unable to rise to her feet again and was assisted to her home on the beach road by neighbors.

Attorney Lorrin Andrews took an appeal in behalf of the defendant. Van Gelsen and his wife have been separated for some time.

HILO TO HAVE BIG THEATER.

Hawaii Herald, July 26: Plans for a theater in Hilo capable of accommodating fifteen hundred people and built right on the edge of the bay so that there will always be a cool breeze coming through the building are already well under way and one of the promoters leaves for Honolulu next month to settle some of the details.

The building will be over eighty feet long and seventy feet wide, the measurements being taken exclusive of the stage. Every comfort and convenience will be installed and good shows will be brought down.

Although most of the details have yet to be settled it is thought that the shares will be placed on the Hilo market and that they will be at a reasonable price so that everyone interested will be able to have a say in the running of the show.

himself in the role of host, left the navy ship shortly after 9:30 this morning, and proceeded through summer seas to Pearl Harbor channel, without accident or incident. Besides President Eliot, guests of Admiral Cowles on the sea trip, and of Walter F. Dillingham when it came to going over the construction work in which he is interested, were Mrs. Cowles, Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Miss Eliot, Mrs. and Miss Hildes, Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Snyder, Admiral Stanford, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and Roger Pierce, secretary to Dr. Eliot.

The water was unusually clear and smooth, so that the best opportunity was afforded to view the entrance channel and the site of the drydock. President Eliot expressed himself as extremely interested in the chemical problems which the navy engineers and the contractors have been called on to solve, and he showed his wide general knowledge by the pertinent questions which he asked and by the several clever suggestions which he made in connection with the laboratory work.

President Eliot was especially interested in the problems of defense, and asked many questions as to the probable effect that Pearl Harbor would have on the general situation throughout the Pacific. The range of his questions showed his knowledge of the strategic points of modern warfare to be as wide as his knowledge of the contributory causes to international peace.

A special train provided by Mr. Dillingham was run right to the drydock to bring the party back to Honolulu.

Visits Waipahu.

President Eliot, however, hadn't had enough of sightseeing and sociological investigation, and with Messrs. Hackfeld and Mead he motored to Waipahu, to get an insight into conditions prevailing at the camps there. The Eliot party was expected to return early in the afternoon and board the Mauna Kea for the trip to the volcano.

Traveling in two big autos driven by their owners, James D. Dole and former Governor Carter, Dr. W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard and his party toured the island yesterday inspecting pineapples and sugar plantations and mills and the wonderful scenery along the windward coast.

Dr. Eliot's party consisted of himself, Mrs. Eliot, Miss Eliot, Secretary Pierce, James A. Wilder, president of the Harvard Club and the Rev. Dr. Clay McCauley.

The first stop on the journey was in the pineapple country at Wahiawa, where Mr. Dole who is president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company explained the details in connection with the industry.

Luncheon at Haleiwa. Leaving the pine fields, the party proceeded to Wahiawa mill where Manager W. W. Goodale was the guide. At Haleiwa, luncheon was served at the hotel and the sightseers rested a while before undertaking the run down the beautiful windward coast. On this portion of the trip a stop was made at Kahuku where Manager Adams showed the visitors over the plantation and through the model camps. From Kahuku the trail led to "The Dunes," the home of Mrs. James B. Castle where afternoon tea was served. The homeward run was made over the Pali and the city was reached shortly after 7 o'clock.

WOMEN ON TREASURE HUNT

PLYMOUTH, July 25.—Another treasure-hunting expedition will have a Welsh port in a few days for the Cocos Island to search for a pirate hoard amounting to nearly $100,000,000 believed to be hidden there. The voyage is expected to take forty-two days. Moving picture operators are going with the expedition and will embark in England, by the principals, including two English women, Mrs. Barry Till and Miss Davies, will join the ship at Panama, traveling via New York. These two women declare they have practically located the whereabouts of the treasure, and a concession has been obtained from the Costa Rican Government for the research.

COLLEGE ROMANCE LEADS TO WEDDING

Miss Alice Richardson of Kansas City to Become Mrs. C. F. Loomis

When Charles F. Loomis was a freshman at the University of Missouri, he found zoology a very dull subject until the morning that Miss Alice Richardson—also a freshman—asked him to dissect a salamander for her. From that time on they did all their laboratory work together, she took him to a sorority dance, and the next spring they went to the Junior prom, which was just the same as an announcement that they were engaged. For four years they went through college together, and when they said goodbye in June, 1911, it was with the understanding that Miss Richardson was to become Mrs. Loomis in Honolulu the following year. Loomis came to Honolulu to take charge of the boys' work at the local Y. M. C. A., and Miss Richardson returned to her home in Kansas City.

Miss Richardson will arrive here next Wednesday on the Lurline with General Secretary Paul Super, and at noon the Rev. A. A. Ebersole will read the service which will make Miss Richardson Mrs. Charles F. Loomis.

The wedding ceremony will be performed at the residence of Paul Super in Manoa Valley, and intimate friends of the bridegroom will be present. Mr. and Mrs. Loomis will spend August at Mr. Ebersole's residence and on September 1 will be at home in Manoa Valley.
